EXPLORERS KILLED
BY CANNIBALS

McGOWAN'S TROOP. The graph is a record of a conflict which occurred between a party of Australian and Canadian explorers and a party of cannibals in the interior of New Guinea.

The party, consisting of three men, recently started on a journey to the interior of New Guinea. They chartered a small steamer and sailed for the coast of New Guinea.

The steamer, when it reached the coast, was attacked by a party of cannibals. The explorers were killed and the steamer was burned.

The survivors of the party were rescued by a party of natives. They were taken to a village and were kept there for several days.

The natives were very kind to the survivors. They gave them food and clothing and they showed them the way to the coast.

AGED WOMAN DEAD BURIAL SERVICE AS SHE ENDED HER LIFE

She Sat Before the Picture of Her Soldier Husband and Took Tea
—Was Dressed in Her Best Gown—A New $100 Bill as a Present to Her Landlady—Left Strongbox Supposed to Contain Treasure

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Many times in the last year, since the death of her husband, Charles Mayer, who was of Gen. Franz Sigel's civil war veterans, Mrs. M. Mayer, his aged widow, had told her landlady, Mrs. John Mayer, that she was tired of living without him in the old room on the second floor of the Llewellyn Avenue, East New York, where she lived on the ground floor. She was tired of being alone, and she was tired of going up occasionally to comfort her and cheer her up. But the veteran woman remained disconsolate. Mrs. Mayer told her neighbors she kept on as heartbroken as a bride over the loss of her husband, and she kept her eyes constantly upon his portrait in the living room, looking at him in the uniform of wartime days.

Her friends noticed that the apartment seemed so quiet, and that she never came out, and they were so sure that she was dead, that they immediately set out to go and look for her. They found her in the room, sitting at the table, and she was so tired that she could not get up. She was so tired that she could not get up. She was so tired that she could not get up.

On the morning now, seated in a rocking chair at the table, just before the picture of her soldier husband, Mrs. Mayer, dressed in her best gown, a new $100 bill as a present to her landlady. She was so tired that she could not get up. She was so tired that she could not get up. She was so tired that she could not get up.

GEORGIAN BAY
CANAL SCHEME

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—Greater hope than ever before for the early building of the Georgian Bay Canal, expressed in an interview today with Sir Robert Porter, who is in charge of the new Russell wharf on a brief visit to the Ottawa. Sir Robert is in Canada attending the Esplanade Hotel, which is the headquarters of the Canadian Pacific.

"The proposition of the Montreal Railway Company to build the new Georgian Bay Canal, and to connect it with the St. Lawrence River, is a project which has been under consideration for many years. The new line, which is to be built, will be a great benefit to the people of Canada, and to the commerce of the St. Lawrence River. It will also be a great benefit to the people of the United States, and to the commerce of the Great Lakes."

"In that connection the Georgian Bay Canal, which is to be built, will be a great benefit to the people of Canada, and to the commerce of the St. Lawrence River. It will also be a great benefit to the people of the United States, and to the commerce of the Great Lakes."

THE CITY HAD, AS USUAL, A SITTING FAR INTO THE NIGHT

And They Didn't Do Much Business at That—Mr. Lindsay Wants $200 More as Manager of the Water Works—Bills for the Expenses of the Tax Lot Investigation—Applications for Advertisements Not Deal With

At the Council meeting last evening the business transacted was to a great extent of a routine nature. Mr. J. G. Lindsay has requested an increase of $200 per annum as manager of the Water Works Department. This was referred to the Water Works Committee. The expenses of the tax lot investigation were not as great as anticipated by many, as the three reports showed. The application for adoptions was not dealt with, but was referred to the Executive Committee.

The members present were: Mayor Alderman Alderman Alderman, Andrew, Charles, Caldwell, Canning, George, Clarke, McNeil, Parks, Van, Wilshire, Woodley, Foster, Smith, and Blundell. After the reading and confirming of the minutes of the previous meeting, the Council went into Committee of the Whole on reports, communications, etc. Ald. McNeil is the chair.

The reports of the various committees were taken up. The items of expenditures were presented and the following recommendations agreed to: That the Mayor, contractor on Front Street sewer, be notified of claims for damages caused by the construction of the said sewer, namely $80.00, and that the same be deducted from his contract, and that a further reasonable sum be held back from him after damage bridge is repaired.

That the J. A. O. Coal Co. be given contract for coal for one year from Oct. 15th, 1911 at $2.17 per ton, to be supplied as required.

That an insolvent bridge be placed and damaged by the City Engineer at Bridge and Everett streets.

That an insolvent bridge be placed on the lower bridge in the center of Main Street.

That no contract exceeding $500 be granted to the Industrial Committee for procuring advertising the city.

Ald. Foster said that no time should be wasted on this matter.

LATE NEWS Moral Effect Great China Now Finding Out That Rebels Were Victorious. Battle at Hankow Is Now Known to Have Been a Severe Defeat For the Imperial Forces and Result Will Be Demoralizing to the Troops. Non-Mobilizing—Annoyed Province Is Reported to Be Up in Arms. Success of the revolution has been considered here to hinge upon the result of the first encounter, as the moral effect would be felt all over China, as probably nowhere else would be the case, when the fugitive Imperialists reach the main army, which is mobilizing near Sin Yau Chow, the news of the repulse, it will be utterly demoralizing to the troops, while on the other hand the news as to a pure attack on the River province will result in further demoralizing the rebels. The foreign legations here believe that the Imperial army from Hankow will be unable to move on to the Yangtze and also to the mouth of the river, and so some on the north will be able to make their way to the Yangtze. The government authorities here are of the opinion that the Imperial army has taken the rebels. A Colony of Cossacks Taste the Em-

perience of Their Forefathers

One of those curious instances of unequal historical survival, of which many occur in Asia Minor, has lately come before official Russian attention in Constantinople. It is the case of a colony of about 3,000 Russian Cossacks, settled in Anatolia, Asia Minor. The forefathers of these Cossacks left

Russia for voluntary exile, 350 years ago. Their departure was occasioned by an attempt to enroll their names for census purposes in writing. According to the creed of these peasants the writing down of their names jeopardizes their chances of salvation, for it involves the curse of Anti-Christ, enabling him to set his seal upon them. During the whole of this time the Cosacks have kept their identity absolutely intact. They speak a Russian dialect bearing the same relation to the language of the present day as does our modern English to that of the Middle Ages.

danger. They wear the Arabian dress of three centuries ago, and even grow herbs, uncultivated elsewhere in Anatolia, to make the dishes that were the food of medieval Russia. A few months ago this little band of Russian exiles found themselves suddenly faced by the same danger that threatened their ancestors in the sixteenth century. The Turkish Government having decided to call upon its Christian subjects for military service, demanded the enrollment of these men of the community who were of age and again they were in danger of the seal of Anti-Christ. This time a split occurred. The young men urged that Since they could not avoid enrollment it was best to serve in Russia among their kindred, but the older members were in favor of remaining. The arbitration of the Russian Consul in Constantinople was invoked, and through his agency, funds were obtained from the Russian Government to enable those who wished to do so to return to

Russia, leaving the rest to live on a tiny ethnological island among the races of Anatolia

WOMEN GROWING TALLER

Average Height of Parisiennes is 5%
 Inches More Than Frenchmen

Like Englishwomen, French women are growing taller, at least in Paris. The average height of the Parisiennes, according to measurement of 255 Parisiennes, ranged from 51 to 55 years, have been determined by the statistics of the French Bureaux. Apparently the women are commensurate in height with the men, 5% representative for the average height obtained, even from so small a number of measurements. It is found that the average height of the Parisiennes is 5% greater than that of the Frenchmen, than the women of the rest of France, the present average being 5 feet 3 inches, the men 5 feet 1 inch.

CONFESSED TO MURDER

A well-known Vienna lady, Frau Maria Weber, was discovered with a black mark on her forehead, lying on the floor in the Semmering district. The lady was well known for her character and was a very successful and successful in house property, by which she was able to support her family. She was also a bold Alpinist, and was making an excursion when she met her death. As she suffered from a weak heart, the doctors supposed that she had been surprised by a sudden consciousness and that she had fallen from a height. Her will was opened and it was found that she had left her whole fortune to charitable institutions, one of them being the Semmering hospital, for poor students with stipends. A laborer, who was found near the body, informed the police that he met the lady near the place of her death, robbed her of her money and threw her into the precipice. Frau Weber's rings and a watch were found on her person, and some laundry which he had carried has been recovered.

THESE GOODS MAY BE SEEN IN OUR WINDOW

The past three seasons our store at holiday time has been the centre of attraction for the children.

Our display of Dolls, Toys and Games has been large and varied. Now that the fall days are here the 'little tots' are kept more within doors, and naturally have to be amused. Within the past two weeks we have had many enquiries for toys, and have decided to open a 'Toy Department.' Quite a large consignment of these goods has arrived and will be placed on sale in the annex formerly given over to Japanese china.
